Class Name: Richmond

Term: Summer `1 2021

Topic: Mini Beasts

What we have been learning this term:

This term has seen the return of Otis we are so please he is back and he has settled so well. We have been getting used to our new recording system Earwig which has been exciting and challenging for us all.

In Richmond we are using our snappy art sessions to mark make using lots of different techniques, this will make a book that is based on the book we are using for our topic 'Mini beasts'. Each page has a sensory element to it. This book will come home ready for you and your child to enjoy together during the summer holidays.

We have introduced a sensory music activity where we explore different textures while we listen to different genres of music that represents the different texture. An example of this is Bach orchestral suite number 3 where the children get to explore cotton wool. The children have enjoyed this session and are showing anticipation as they are getting used to the different music and preferences for which texture/music they prefer.

We have managed between the showers to fit in a bit of gardening and the sensory garden is looking nice and we are all hoping the weather improves and we can take the opportunity for some outdoor learning.

It's great we have been able to get back to our hydrotherapy sessions and the children are really benefiting from this.

Have a well-earned break during half term and we look forward to welcoming you back for the summer term.
