West Berkshire Directory website

What is the West Berkshire Directory?

The Directory is free, available online, and gives details of the wide range of information, advice and support that's available across West Berkshire for adults, families and children. It includes lists of useful phone numbers, email addresses and websites of local and national organisations.

The Directory is easy to use and gives anyone an important first point of contact for many support networks. There is a huge amount of advice and support out there along with so many organisations and community groups running events and activities in our area, the Directory gives people the first step towards accessing all this knowledge and all these networks.

There are around 2000 records that are continually being updated, which includes news, advice and guidance articles, training events, social activities and much more.

And it is different to the West Berkshire Council website because.....

The Directory provides records, news articles of internal and external organisations and events. GP practices (via Social Prescribers) in the local area are working towards signposting patients towards the Directory and have a dedicated section on their website.

West Berkshire is fortunate to have a diverse range of support services available which are provided by all kinds of organisations, the voluntary sector and individuals.

We are rich in community based resources, the Directory brings together information on activities and opportunities which can enhance all aspects of our lives.

Why do we need one?

The Adults Social Care information Point (SCiP) went live in 2011, initially to meet obligations under the Transformation of the Adult Social Care agenda and latterly complied with the Care Act (2014) requirements. The Family Information Service (FIS) was part of a charity that was taken on by WBC in 2011 and the Local Offer was first established in 2014.

There is also a statutory duty for every authority to provide a Family Information Service & SEND Local Offer information site.

The Social Care information Point sat on a separate platform to the Family information service and SEND Local Offer sites. The 3 sites have now been incorporated into the one West Berkshire Directory.

Who is it aimed at?

Are you a parent worried about your child and needing someone to talk to? Or maybe you're caring for a friend or relative feeling isolated and want to know what sort of support is available in your community. Are you looking for a youth club for your child with autism?

For adults there is information about a range of resources in your community that can help you remain independent or feel less isolated. This includes information about leisure activities and local support groups which run events that could help you get out more and make new friends.

SEND Local Offer supports families with children and young people aged from 0-25, providing information on activities, education, health, travel and money matters. All these areas of the Directory have many records that provide a mine of valuable information.

These sections provide a wealth of information on childcare, Early Years Funding, leisure activities, support services and much more including a telephone line offering free help and advice for parents, parents-to-be, carers and professionals.

You can email directory@westberks.gov.uk or phone 01635 503100 for more help.

Who contributes?

The Local Authority has many entries of its own services in the Directory and many other entries which could be from any type of organisation or individual offering a service.

If you know of a local organisation or community group providing a service or activities for anyone living in West Berkshire, they can submit their entry into the Directory and will be responsible for maintaining its accuracy. The Directory is updated almost daily.

West Berkshire, a great place to live with great amenities, do you know what's on offer for you and your family?

The answers to all these questions, and more, are now available at the touch of a button in the West Berkshire Directory, which brings together a wealth of information in the Adults, Family Information Service and SEND Local Offer sections.

We are keen to raise the profile of the West Berkshire Directory with users and contributors.

You can find the Directory on <https://directory.westberks.gov.uk>

The Disabled Children's Register

West Berkshire's Disabled Children Register (DCR) is a secure database which aims to capture information about all children and young people aged 0-25 years with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND) in West Berkshire. The information that you give us will be used anonymously to show the use of and demand for services in West Berkshire. We will use this information to help us to plan, monitor and develop appropriate facilities and services for disabled children and their families.

The DCR is managed by the West Berkshire Directory. Registering is voluntary but we would like to encourage as many of you as possible to register so that we can get as clear a picture as possible of the needs for services in West Berkshire.

To register you must complete a simple online form which will allow you to provide us with details of your child. We will be able to use your contact details to keep you up-to-date with developments in services and other relevant information for disabled children and young people.

Personal Outcomes Evaluation Tool

Thank you for taking the time to respond to the POET survey in 2018-2019. This survey is about the impact of support for children and young people with SEND, and their families, in West Berkshire. The Local Authority received a report over the summer which compares the responses received in West Berkshire to the responses received nationally, and the results are very encouraging. Please visit the West Berkshire Local Offer website to read the full reports.

The survey links for 2019-20 are now live and, as always, we would appreciate you completing this survey and encouraging others to do so. Please contact nikki.stevens@westberks.gov.uk if you would like hard copies of the survey or if you have any questions.

Castle Gate

Hooray! Castle Gate has completed its refurbishment. The interior has received a fabulous facelift. All areas have been repainted with a focus on colour therapy to create a relaxed, calm atmosphere. The overall feel is fresh, bright, contemporary and less “clinical”.

There are improvements throughout. These include themed bedrooms such as the seaside and woodlands. Each of our 6 bedrooms are unique and different, supporting a homely environment. All the flooring has been replaced with wood effect vinyl creating a warm, light feel. A local women's craft group have been getting creative for us by way of making bunting and pompoms for the rooms. There are other little touches, such as storytelling illustrations up the stairways courtesy of local illustrator and children's author Simon Murray. The Kennet School provided prints of local places that the children will find familiar. We are very grateful for the support and generosity of local people.

All the feedback from young people and visitors on the refurbishment has been extremely positive. Work is continuing in the New Year when we will have two of our bathrooms refurbished.

The next newsletter will provide photos of the amazing changes happening here.

Autism with Lola

Autism is increasingly being seen in the public eye, and talked about in the media, but there is still a gap in teaching other children why some things are difficult for little ones like Lola, and how they can help and understand without compromising their own mental wellbeing.

With cuts across the education system, it's impossible for children to learn everything about the wider community, but even if we can't teach our children in lessons, we can do so through the art of storytelling; and that's what Autism with Love is all about.

Imagine a life where we needn't explain.

*A life where kids are happy
not being the same ...*

... My name is Jodie Isitt, and this is my dream.

At the heart of this brand new initiative is Lola Rabbit (based on my daughter, Lola), along with a group of cute, but meaningful, woodland animals. These characters provide children with learning resources and give them knowledge that is desperately needed in order to understand and accept differences.

They do so by taking the reader on an educational journey embracing differences and showing kindness. It is my passion to create gentle stories for young children, in the hope that it will explain what it is like to live with autism and anxiety and help shape a kinder and more inclusive future for the children of the next generation.

We NEED to teach children about disabilities and here's why.

When growing up as a little girl it was very rare to see a disabled person walking down the street or doing their shopping. Disabled people were segregated and no one spoke about it. No one taught young children why there were certain facial differences, behaviour difficulties or more physical disabilities such as multiple sclerosis for instance. I wasn't taught. I was scared and fearful and confused.

I was frightened of these differences and I avoided looking at people with disabilities, quite possibly crossing the road because of the discomfort of the unknown.

"What was the matter with them? Why are they different? Why did they just make that loud frightening noise?"

I would ask myself those questions in my head but I would never ask them out loud. It was almost like there was this unwritten rule that we shouldn't speak out loud incase people heard.

I would be devastated if an adult or child actively avoided my children because of their differences and this is why we have to start talking about them in schools and at home. We should be shaping the next generation into kinder, thoughtful and more understanding individuals who are inclusive.

We NEED to teach children about disabilities, and this beautifully written and illustrated story book does just that and more. In fact, it has proven to not only help children who are not neuro-divergent to understand those who are, but it has also helped autistic children understand themselves! This has lead to them being able to start communicating their feelings to their parents and caregivers.

Parents were overwhelmed when their children started communicating to them their worries and feelings when previously they had never done this before. This then made me realise what a huge impact this book is having and my dream was coming true.

These children's books don't just help children understand others or accept themselves. They even have an 'Expert Section' designed to help parents, teachers and carers create discussion points in the home or the classroom to further enhance their learning experience. I wanted to ensure that all angles were covered within this book, I didn't want for any parent or carer to feel overwhelmed or concerned so I thought it was vital to have the expert section included.

All of these stories will contain very valuable and exciting advice from experts in this area such as occupational therapists and Speech and language therapists. Each contributor is extremely valued and dedicate their time for free in order to help promote inclusion in the classroom and at home.

Autism Berkshire

Autism Berkshire is launching a new free course for parents and carers of autistic teenagers living in West Berkshire, and school staff who support their children.

Talking sense about autism.

Teen Life is an intensive course, running over six weekly sessions, to help parents and education professionals to understand more about autistic young people aged 10 to 16, discussing strategies and sharing ideas about how to communicate with and support these children.

Developed by the National Autistic Society, the course covers topics including self-esteem, spending time with other people, stress and anxiety, understanding an autism diagnosis, puberty, independence, special interests and education and planning for the future.

Thanks to funding from West Berkshire Council's Community Education Fund and the Education & Skills Funding Agency, two courses will be run at the Swings & Smiles special needs playcentre, in Lower Way, Thatcham.

Course sessions will all take place on Mondays, from 12 noon to 2.30pm, as follows:

January 27 to March 9 (no session on February 17, due to the half-term holiday).
April 20 to June 1.

For more information about the Teen Life courses, see www.autismberkshire.org.uk/teen-life/

If you are interested in taking part, send an email, including a daytime telephone number, to contact@autismberkshire.org.uk and a member of Autism Berkshire's family support team will contact you for an informal discussion.

Supporting siblings of children with special needs

Everybody has a responsibility

A conference for professionals to identify ways in which we can help these young people fulfill their potential

When: Monday 27th January 2020

Where: Donnington Valley Hotel, Newbury

Who is it for: Any professionals working with children and families

How to book: Visit our website to book your free ticket. Places are limited

Sibling support at Swings & Smiles has grown hugely over the last few years and we now offer courses in schools as well as three sessions a month at the centre where the focus is around having fun with other siblings. The more contact we have with our families the more we are seeing that there is so much more that can be done for these children, not only by us but by other organisations and professionals too and we are keen to make this happen.

Earlier this year we conducted some research into the lives of siblings of children with special needs and now we'd like to invite professionals to hear the results, and the ways we've identified that we can all work together to support these young people. At the event you can expect to hear stories about the impact of growing up with a brother or sister with special needs from a parent's point of view and from some siblings themselves. There will also be the opportunity to have some group discussions around the topic and to work with other professionals to ensure we're all doing everything we can to support these young people in fulfilling their potential.

The event is free to attend but donations to our work are appreciated. Lunch and refreshments will be provided so let us know if you have any dietary requirements.

If you have any questions about the event please contact Sara on
